GTR INDIA 2021 VIRTUAL

Part of its hybrid offering for the year – with an in-person event scheduled for October – GTR India 2021 Virtual took place on March 10-11, open to attendees virtually for the first time.

Over the two days, sessions focused on a range of key issues impacting on Indian trade, including potential changes to economic and trade policy, supply chain trends, digitisation drives, new trade routes and corridors and ongoing discussions on the importance of ESG.

In addition to the various on-demand and live sessions, a 3D exhibition hall, interactive chatrooms, discussion forums and other digital networking tools provided the opportunity to engage and discuss business in this dynamic and exciting market.

“GTR India Virtual 2021 has done a phenomenal job of bringing together thought leaders and practitioners to discuss important and relevant topics shaping the business of trade.”

Ranju Sigtia, ICICI Bank

“I loved the GTR Challenge this year. Since the medium of panels were virtual, it helped in engaging the listeners. I loved all the sessions , the one which stood out for me was Shifts in Trade corridors post Covid. Also the panelists were good mix of banks and corporates.”

“GTR India – my first attendance for many years. It’s grown proportionally to the importance of India as a regional/global trading hub. Certainly worth attending to get insights on India now and in the future.”

Gabriel Buck, GKB Ventures

“KUDOS to the GTR team! You continued the legacy for bringing all the members of trade finance under one roof – this time virtually. The team has done a great job even though we were coordinating in different time zones, the team never disappointed. Special thanks to Anna Vilka, Jeff Ando and Ed Virtue. Hoping to meet the GTR family very soon.”

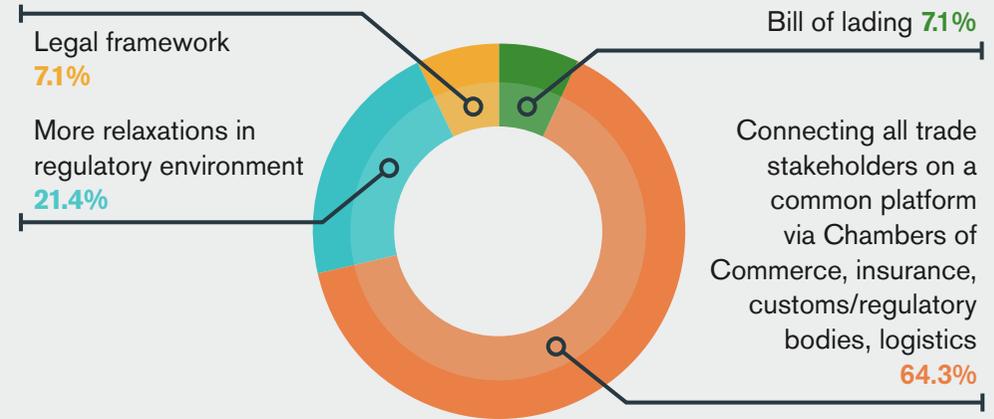

Ms. Pranjali Sanap, ICICI Bank

Takeaways from GTR India 2021 Virtual

“There is a certain degree of hesitation over the ability of the economy to turn itself around, and this is primarily due to the fact that India is a service-dependent economy.”

Amitendu Palit, Senior Research Fellow & Research Lead, Trade & Economics, NUS Institute of South Asian Studies

“The debate during this pandemic is whether the government’s packages should be more demand-orientated or supply-orientated, and whether they should focus on short or long-term solutions.”

Priyanka Kishore, Head of India & South East Asia, Oxford Economics

“The key sectors ushering growth include manufacturing and infrastructure, technology and innovation, pharmaceuticals. Government-led schemes are incentivising investments in these; the banking sector has a very important and responsible role to play as a facilitator of this economic growth.”

Arun Menon, Managing Director & Head of International Trade & Transaction Banking India, Credit Agricole CIB

“When you start peeling the onion of how the pandemic has affected trade corridors, you start seeing some interesting shifts.”

Rakesh Patwari, Director & Head of Trade Sales, India, HSBC

“Corporates are no longer looking at banks at only being their partner for funding, the changing macro-economic terms shows that the corporate ecosystem is undergoing a transformation. There is wide spread digitisation, speeded up innovation, new demand for integrated propositions.”

Nandini Bhattacharyya, Head of Global Trade Products, ICICI Bank

“Asia is a complicated place; these concerns are not unique to India. Concerns about security issues, political tensions, and trade obstacles are not small.”

Deborah Elms, Executive Director, Asian Trade Centre

“I see exponential growth in the fraud mitigation market – the government are addressing payment issues for MSMEs and the marginal sector. With that focus in mind, the government in India is encouraging the adoption of tech platforms in India.”

Kashinath Katakdhond, Managing Director, India, MonetaGo

“Covid has accelerated the process of democratising the world, in terms of getting people to do more transactions on digital platforms. People are optimising on costs, clients are reducing costs, creating a period of flourishing digital growth.”

Ajit Nair, Senior Board Advisor, TradeAssets

“Overall, the supply and demand gaps are imbalanced – there was more supply, but now we’re seeing the scales tip and there is more demand; it will take a few years to get back to normal.”

Garima Jain, Chief Executive Officer, Agrocrop India

“Investing in clean infrastructure and technology creates clean economic jobs for the future. We should see environmental standards and services that support them; investing in that is vital. This is the future we need to invest in.”

Lisa McAuley, Chief Executive Officer, GTPA
